This will help to determine how to use accurate recording keeping to create long-lasting relationships with clients and stakeholders. You will also be provided with tools and tricks through engaging presentations to upsell products without appearing 'salesy' and learn skills to overcome negativity from partners to achieve a successful outcome.

Summary

Creating a key account network within an organisation requires in-depth knowledge about each partner and their needs. You'll need to develop your understanding of the market and your competitors to keep your accounts on the side and provide the best deals and offers to keep your businesses in the green.

An Account Manager needs to maintain an honest relationship with their account leads to fulfil their needs and create mutually beneficial outcomes effectively. To increase company conversion and generate positive reviews of your B2B offering, you should become a value-adding partner who is approachable and consistent in delivering amazing service rather than a transactional supplier interested solely in profit margins. This will put you at the top of your partners' connection lists when they're seeking stakeholder engagement and support to move forward with their business.
