Objective

Upon completion of this course, participants will be able to:

- Identify the critical components of a successful strategic plan.
- Develop innovative ideas that are reflective of your company's future goals.
- Understand how to delegate effectively to the right people.
- Familiarise yourself with a structured action plan and create sensible checkpoints to review progress.
- Manage a budget and ensure your planning makes a return on the investment.
- Generate buy-in from employees and stakeholders when introducing new ideas.
- Review and seek feedback regarding strategic development to work towards continuous improvement.
- Encourage employees to think creatively and engage in innovative initiatives.

Audience

This course suits anyone responsible for strategic project planning or change management within a business or has been entrusted with designing new processes and procedures to secure a return on investment or increase business performance. It would be particularly effective for:

- Business Owners
- Heads of Department
- Change Managers
- Planning Managers
- Financial Managers
- Supervisors
- Team Managers
- Operations Managers

Training Methodology

This course offers a range of adult learning techniques to allow participants to develop new and innovative ideas using qualitative and quantitative market research and feedback models. You will generate effective change plans using Gantt charts and SWOT analyses to understand priorities and create a financial model to display a cost-benefit analysis.

The course also includes case study references to help students understand the positive and negative effects on other businesses. It will incorporate group discussions and activities to help students understand how to approach and manage change with each stakeholder.

Summary

Creating a strategic plan for your business's future is essential for its success. You need to understand the precise areas where change is required, review your competitors, implement updates to stay ahead of the game and input innovative and creative ideas to help you retain staff, increase conversion, and develop your brand image.

Your leadership and management skills, excellent planning, organisation, delegation, and productive problem-solving expertise are crucial to achieving your business goals.

You must understand how to plan for a project rollout effectively, delegate tasks to the right employees, and budget effectively to ensure a return on investment. Your project structure needs to consider your customers, clients, and employees to identify any pain points, and you'll need to be open to reviewing your changes and moving forward to achieve a successful outcome.
