Training Methodology

Teaching takes place in a variety of settings, including face-to-face classroom teaching. It will ensure that participants can expand their knowledge of the subject and increase their skills. The course is delivered via various methods by a specialist tutor. This will include PowerPoint presentations, reviewing articles and other relevant materials, group or individual exercises and discussions. There may be some independent work set, and the course will require submitting articles to demonstrate understanding and an end-of-course test. Note-taking is encouraged, and you are welcome to use electronic devices to do this.

The course manual will form part of the learning but give you references for the future. You are encouraged to ask questions and, if needed, spend time one-on-one with your tutor to go over any issues. You will network with peers in similar roles during your time in the classroom.

Summary

One of the current buzzwords in business is HR Transformation, but if you do not understand the concept, it is hard to deliver this within your organisation. The idea is to ensure that you are driving business and getting results while improving the functionality of HR. It also has to look at the bigger picture and understand the links between corporate goals, external and internal customer satisfaction and how the business achieves productivity and quality. As HR professionals, delegates need to be able to work at a strategic level within the company to add value and become partners.

You need to develop knowledge and skills to ensure that your contribution has transitioned from a service provider to a more valuable strategic partner. This is important for meeting stakeholder expectations and the general conditions of the business. Whether you already work in HR or want to upskill to gain career progression, this is the perfect course for you.

Delegates will learn various skills that align with today's HR best practices and gain valuable experience using tools such as PEST and SWOT analysis. It also explores the five forces analysis and balanced scorecards, all of which you should know of.
