Summary

The Alignment-Commitment (DAC) Workshop Facilitator Course is designed to equip facilitators with the knowledge and skills necessary to lead workshops that foster organisational alignment and commitment. DAC, which stands for Direction, Alignment, and Commitment, is a framework aimed at ensuring that all members of an organisation or team are moving in the same direction, understand their roles, and are fully committed to achieving common goals. This course provides facilitators the tools to guide teams through the DAC process, ensuring that leaders and employees work together cohesively and effectively.

The course focuses on understanding the principles of DAC, developing facilitation techniques to create engaging and productive workshops, and mastering the art of managing group dynamics to foster collaboration and consensus. Facilitators will learn how to help organisations clarify their vision (Direction), establish effective communication and coordination (Alignment), and build buy-in and enthusiasm (Commitment). By learning how to structure DAC workshops, facilitators can help organisations create a strong sense of purpose and shared responsibility, resulting in improved performance and organisational success.

Through theoretical understanding and practical exercises, participants will gain the skills to lead DAC workshops confidently. The course will cover everything from workshop preparation and facilitation techniques to managing challenging participants and measuring workshop outcomes.
